Anna then married Frederic Dean Chamberlin in 1894. He died in 1898 in Spokane, Washington.

Because she had taken on as a follower one Mrs. Woodbury, a Christian Scientist, who became a leech even to the extent of living with Anna and Frederic. He left her and then in 1897 obtained a divorce. Mrs. Woodbury was determined to get Anna and her brother Fred under her sway in order to get the Potter money. Frederic Dean Chamberlin was an outstandingly fine man.
